The Louisiana Library Association Conference will be March 16-19, 1999, at the Radisson Hotel in Baton Rouge. The Academic Section is sponsoring a number of excellent sessions on Wednesday and Thursday, March 17-18. Full conference details are available at <http://www.leeric.lsu.edu/lla/conference/>. The Academic Section Business Meeting jointly held with ACRL/LA will be at a new time this year, Thursday, 12:30 at the Radisson. Please make every effort to attend this session. A major item for discussion will be the Outstanding Academic Librarian Award.

The Academic Section voted to institute the Outstanding Academic Librarian Award in 1995 at LLA, Lafayette. The purpose is "To publicly recognize an individual who has made a significant contributions to further the development of academic libraries/librarians/librarianship in Louisiana." In 1996 the award was presented to Dr. Carolyn Hargraves, and in 1997 it was presented to Jennifer Cargill. In 1998 and again in 1999, the Academic Librarian Award Committee decided not to present the award based on their interpretation of the guidelines. Outstanding librarians have been nominated but our committee felt these librarians did not meet the intent of the award guidelines. It may be that the letters of nomination did not adequately address the guidelines, or that nominees were outstanding at their libraries but not at a state level, or that those who should be nominated have not been, or that the guidelines may be too restrictive, or that the committee's interpretation may be too restrictive.... The award should be meaningful and achievable. Please review the guidelines to be prepared for our discussion March 18 in Baton Rouge.

OUTSTANDING ACADEMIC LIBRARIAN AWARD

Purpose:

To publicly recognize an individual who has made significant contributions to further the development of academic libraries/librarians/librarianship in Louisiana.

Prerequisites:

1. Nominee must be an academic librarian currently active in his/her profession in Louisiana. On rare occasions, a non-librarian who has made exceptional contributions to academic libraries/librarians/librarianship in Louisiana may be considered.
2. Contributions must be of value to libraries or librarians as a whole and not to individual persons or institutions. Contributions, such as creating a "model library" on a particular campus, must be profound enough to be of wide interest and easily accessible for other libraries to benefit from its creation.
3. Nominations must be made by a current member of LLA.

Evaluation criteria:

The award recipient is to be determined from the nomination forms and supporting data. Nominees should be characterized by one of more of the following:

1. Actively participates in/contributes to professional activities and organizations which significantly impact academic libraries.
2. Conducts research and shares this research with other Louisiana academic librarians (either through publication or through public presentation) which enhances the ability of library users to more fully utilize current information resources and technologies.
3. Serves as a model for other librarians or potential librarians; helps further the impact of Louisiana academic libraries on the education and/or livelihood of Louisiana's students and residents.

If you would like to send your comments about this or other issues, please contact Rebecca Stenzel at stenzel@latech.edu or 318/257-2577.

Association and Conference News

Louisiana Libraries 2000: Advocacy, Technology, Tradition

The 1999 Conference Committee invites you to the Radisson Hotel and Conference Center in Baton Rouge for four days of dynamic programs, hands-on technology workshops, product demonstrations and the opportunity to network with your colleagues from around the state. Pre-conference workshops begin on Tuesday, March 16th and the excitement won't end until late in the afternoon of Friday, March 19th. President Idella Washington's theme, Louisiana Libraries

2000: Advocacy, Technology, Tradition, is both timely and timeless. Some of the highlights will be:

Keynote Speakers - Chuck Stone, columnist, editor, author and professor of Journalism and Mass Communication at University of North Carolina – Chapel Hill, will speak on library advocacy at the first general session. Pam Berger, media specialist, writer and international lecturer on technology issues, will address the second general session and lead a forum of Louisiana library professionals in discussion of the direction and impact of technology in state libraries.

Exhibits – Old favorites and some new faces will gather to display their wares and answer your questions about products and services. Author's Row book signings and Swap and Shop will also be included. A casual mixer, "Tailgate with the Vendors" will be held in the exhibit hall with lots of drawings, door prizes, entertainment and munchies.

Our History – You are invited to stroll down memory lane during one of the many sessions scheduled by the Oral History Committee. Bring your stories and LLA memorabilia to share and help identify the "lost souls" in our photo contest.

Books & Jazz – Clifton Taulbert, filmmaker, entrepreneur, and author of Once Upon a Time When We Were Colored, Last Train North and Watching Our Crops will speak on community building at the book dinner. Greg Stafford's New Orleans Jazz band will entertain during the cocktail hour.

Technology Updates - New this year will be scheduled hands-on technology demos by vendors to showcase new products. There will also be free, off-site technology-based demonstrations at area computer laboratories.

DEED-NET GRANT FUNDED

The Distance Education Electronic Delivery Network (DEED-Net) grant was awarded by the Louisiana Board of Regents under a special initiative to support the development of distance education in Louisiana. The grant of $149,348.00 will finance implementation of an enhanced Ariel network linking together 22 state academic libraries. Ariel technology supports delivery of compact scanned images, facilitates electronic transmission to other Ariel sites, and decompresses the images for printing on laser printers. The network will incorporate high-end flatbed scanners that provide high image resolution enabling participants to tele-transmit medical and technical images.

This project enables libraries to deliver information in all formats for distance education students and faculty. Furthermore, it enhances the statewide Interlibrary Loan network by providing rapid, high quality, cost effective delivery of all information resources to each Ariel site.

Jane Kleiner, head of collection development and remote document services and grants at LSU, is the principal investigator, with D.W. Schneider, associate dean of libraries at LSU, as the co-principal investigator.
